The Poynter Institute

- The new Hunter Biden narrative is based on his affiliation with an investment firm that raised money for and invested in Metabiota, a startup that does work related to global health. It's unproven that Biden was involved with the investment decision.
- Metabiota separately received money from the Pentagon's Defense Threat Reduction Agency for subcontracted work related to the biological research labs in Ukraine. That work involved helping to train and otherwise support scientists at those facilities.
- PolitiFact found no evidence that Metabiota's work assisting staff at the labs in Ukraine was directly financed by Hunter Biden or his investment firm. Metabiota said that the work it performed in Ukraine was fully financed by the DTRA.

Resilience to Manufacture mRNA for Moderna's COVID-19 Vaccine

September 8, 2021

SAN DIEGO & CAMBRIDGE, Mass.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--National Resilience, Inc. (Resilience), a company seeking to build the world's most advanced biopharmaceutical manufacturing ecosystem, and Moderna, Inc. (Nasdaq: MRNA), a biotechnology company pioneering messenger RNA (mRNA) medicines, today announced an agreement to manufacture drug substance for the Moderna COVID-19 vaccine.

Under the terms of the multi-year agreement, Resilience will produce mRNA for the Moderna COVID-19 vaccine at its facility in Mississauga, Ontario in Canada, for distribution worldwide.

"Moderna's COVID-19 vaccine has saved countless lives, and we're excited to manufacture mRNA for this important vaccine," said Rahul Singhvi, Sc.D, Chief Executive Officer of Resilience. "This collaboration has the potential to ensure more people are protected around the world from the deadly COVID-19 virus."

Separately, Moderna recently announced a collaboration to bring mRNA manufacturing to Canada through a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with the government of Canada to build a state-of-the-art messenger RNA (mRNA) vaccine manufacturing facility in the country including access to Moderna's mRNA development engine. The goals of this MoU are to build the foundation to support Canada with direct access to rapid pandemic response capabilities and to provide access to Moderna's vaccines in development for respiratory viruses.

About Resilience

Resilience is a manufacturing and technology company dedicated to broadening access to complex medicines and protecting biopharmaceutical supply chains against disruption. Founded in 2020, the company is building a sustainable network of high-tech, end-to-end manufacturing solutions with the aim to ensure the medicines of today and tomorrow can be made quickly, safely, and at scale. Resilience seeks to offer the highest quality and regulatory capabilities, and flexible and adaptive facilities to serve partners of all sizes. By continuously advancing the science of biopharmaceutical manufacturing and development, Resilience aims to free partners to focus on the discoveries that improve patients' lives.

U.S. FDA, CDC see early signal of possible Pfizer bivalent COVID shot link to stroke

Pfizer and BioNTech said in a statement that they have been made aware of limited reports of ischemic strokes in people 65 and older following vaccination with their updated shot.

This safety concern has not been identified with Moderna's bivalent shot and both the CDC and FDA continue to recommend that everyone aged 6 months and older stay up-to-date with their COVID-19 vaccination.

RNA for Moderna's Omicron Booster Manufactured by CIA-Linked Company

Since late last year, messenger RNA for Moderna's COVID-19 vaccines, including its recently reformulated Omicron booster, has been exclusively manufactured by a little known company with significant ties to US intelligence.

BY WHITNEY WEBB · AUGUST 17, 2022 · 10 MINUTE READ

However, unlike the company's original COVID-19 vaccine, the genetic material, or messenger RNA (mRNA), for this new vaccine, including the newly formulated genetic material meant to provide protection against the Omicron variant, is being manufactured, not by Moderna, but by a relatively new company that has received hardly any media attention, despite its overt links to US intelligence. Last September, it was quietly announced that a company called National Resilience (often referred to simply as Resilience) would begin manufacturing the mRNA for Moderna COVID-19 vaccine products. Under the terms of the multi-year agreement, "Resilience will produce mRNA for the Moderna COVID-19 vaccine at its facility in Mississauga, Ontario, for distribution worldwide."

Another notable board member, in discussing Resilience's intelligence ties, is Drew Oetting. Oetting works for Cerberus Capital Management, the firm headed by Steve Feinberg who previously led the President's Intelligence Advisory Board under the Trump administration. Cerberus is notably the parent company of DynCorp, a controversial US national security contractor tied to numerous scandals, including scandals related to sex trafficking in conflict zones. Oetting is also part of the CIA-linked Thorn NGO ostensibly focused on tackling child trafficking that was the subject of a previous Unlimited Hangout investigation.

Oetting is also the co-founder of 8VC, a venture capital firm that is one of the main investors in Resilience. 8VC's other co-founder is Joe Lonsdale and Oetting "started his career" as Lonsdale's chief of staff. Lonsdale is the co-founder, alongside Peter Thiel and Alex Karp, of Palantir, a CIA front company and intelligence contractor that is the successor to DARPA's controversial Total Information Awareness (TIA) mass surveillance and data-mining program. In addition, Oetting previously worked for Bill Gates' investment fund.

In addition to these intelligence-linked individuals, the rest of Resilience's board includes the former CEO of the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, Susan Desmond-Hellmann; former FDA Commissioner and Pfizer board member, Scott Gottlieb; two former executives at Johnson & Johnson; former president and CEO of Teva Pharmaceuticals North American branch, George Barrett; CalTech professor and board member of Alphabet (i.e. Google) and Illumina, Frances Arnold; former executive at Genentech and Merck, Patrick Yang; and Resilience CEO Rahul Singhvi.

Borio is hardly Resilience’s only In-Q-Tel connection, as the CEO of In-Q-Tel, Chris Darby, sits on the company’s board of directors. Darby is also on the board of directors of the CIA Officers Memorial Foundation. Darby was also recently a member of the National Security Commission on Artificial Intelligence (NSCAI), where members of the military, intelligence community and Silicon Valley’s top firms argued for the need to reduce the use of “legacy systems” in favor of AI-focused alternatives as a national security imperative. Among those “legacy systems” identified by the NSCAI were in-person doctor visits and even receiving medical care from a human doctor, as opposed to an AI “doctor.” The NSCAI also argued for the removal of “regulatory barriers” that prevent these new technologies from replacing “legacy systems.”

However, while Nelsen has been given much of the credit for creating Resilience, he revealed in one interview that the idea for the company had actually come from someone else – Luciana Borio. In July of last year, Nelsen revealed that it was while talking to Borio about “her work running pandemic preparedness on the NSC [National Security Council]” that had “helped lead to the launch of Nelsen’s $800 million biologics manufacturing startup Resilience.”

At the time of their conversation, Borio was the vice president of In-Q-tel, the venture capital arm of the CIA that has been used since its creation in the early 2000s to found a number of companies, many of which act as Agency fronts. Prior to In-Q-Tel, she served as director for medical and biodefense preparedness at the National Security Council during the Trump administration and had previously been the acting chief scientist at the FDA from 2015 to 2017.

Borio is currently a senior fellow for global health at the Council on Foreign Relations, a consultant to Goldman Sachs, a member of the Bill Gates-funded vaccine alliance CEPI, and a partner at Nelsen’s venture capital firm ARCH Venture Partners, which funds Resilience. Nelsen’s ARCH previously funded Nanosys, the company of the controversial scientist Charles Lieber. Around the time of her conversation with Nelsen that led to Resilience’s creation, Borio was co-writing a policy paper for the Johns Hopkins Center for Health Security that recommended linking COVID-19 vaccination status with food stamp programs and rent assistance as a possible means of coercing certain populations to take the experimental vaccine.

U.S. to Aid Ukraine in Countering Bioweapons

By Jo Warrick
August 30, 2005

The United States and Ukraine agreed yesterday to work jointly to prevent the spread of biological weapons, signing a pact that clears the way for Ukraine's government to receive U.S. aid to improve security at facilities where dangerous microbes are kept.

The agreement, the result of more than a year of negotiations, was announced by Sens. Richard G. Lugar (R-Ind.) and Barack Obama (D-Ill.) during a visit to the Ukrainian capital, Kiev. The senators credited Ukraine's reformist leaders, ushered into power by last fall's Orange Revolution, with breaking bureaucratic resistance to the pact.

NEW YORK – October 30, 2013

EcoHealth Alliance, a nonprofit organization that focuses on local conservation and global health issues, announced the discovery of a new SARS-like coronavirus (CoV) in Chinese horseshoe bats. Ten years after the SARS outbreak, EcoHealth Alliance scientists and an international group of collaborators have uncovered genome sequences of a new virus closely related to the SARS coronavirus that erupted in Asia in 2002 – 2003, which caused a global pandemic crisis. For the first time ever, the group was able to isolate the live SARS-like virus from bats allowing scientists to conduct detailed studies to create control measures to thwart outbreaks and provide opportunities for vaccine development. The research team involved scientists from China, Australia, Singapore, and the U.S. and the results were published today in the journal Nature. "Our discovery that bats may directly infect humans has enormous implications for public health control measures," stated co-senior author Peter Daszak, PhD, President of EcoHealth Alliance. Dr. Daszak is also principal investigator on a National Institutes of Health (NIH)/National Science Foundation (NSF) Ecology and Evolution of Infectious Diseases (EEID) grant, and leads EcoHealth Alliance's work on the USAID PREDICT project, both of which funded the current work. "Since 2003 there has been disagreement about the origin of the virus that directly evolved into human SARS-CoV, the causative agent of the first emerging pandemic threat of the 21st century. Even though our team reported that bats are natural reservoirs of SARS-like coronaviruses in 2005, we have been searching for this missing link for 10 years, and finally we've found it," said Dr. Zhengli Shi, Director of Emerging Infectious Diseases at the Wuhan Institute of Virology, Chinese Academy of Sciences and co-senior author on the paper.

The research team isolated and cultured a live virus that binds to the human SARS receptor ACE2 and can therefore be transmitted directly from bats to people. During the original outbreak of SARS in the wet markets of Guangdong province in China over 10 years ago, it was thought that bat viruses first infected civets, and then the virus evolved to infect people by this intermediate wildlife host. The current breakthrough suggests that SARS may have originated from one of these viruses, precluding civets from playing a part in the transmission process. "This paper hasn't resolved the provenance of SARS CoV;

The Wuhan lab received USAID funding for equipment, and PREDICT coordinators connected the scientists there with researchers in other countries in order to synchronize tracking of novel viruses before SARS-CoV-2.

The project's second funding cycle concluded on Sept. 30, 2019, less than two months before the new coronavirus probably began spreading. It was granted a zero-dollar six-month extension — through March 2020 — to write up final reports.

Darby is also on the board of directors of the CIA Officers Memorial Foundation. Darby was also recently a member of the National Security Commission on Artificial Intelligence (NSCAI), where members of the military, intelligence community and Silicon Valley's top firms argued for the need to reduce the use of "legacy systems" in favor of AI-focused alternatives as a national security imperative. Among those "legacy systems" identified by the NSCAI were in-person doctor visits and even receiving medical care from a human doctor, as opposed to an AI "doctor." The NSCAI also argued for the removal of "regulatory barriers" that prevent these new technologies from replacing "legacy systems."

Anacostia

Anacostia is a historic neighborhood in Southeast Washington, D.C. Its downtown is located at the intersection of Good Hope Road and Martin Luther King Jr. Avenue. It is located east of the Anacostia River, after which the neighborhood is named.

Anacostia includes all of the Anacostia Historic District, which was listed on the National Register of Historic Places in 1978.<sup>[1]</sup> Often the name "Anacostia" is used to refer to the entire portion of the city that is southeast of the Anacostia River. The Anacostia Business Improvement District is responsible for the development of the area.

CZI's Biohub is a new strategic partnership of UC Berkeley, UCSF and Stanford University, to be led by Cori Bargmann (Rockefeller University), Joe DeRisi (UCSF) and Steve Quake (Stanford University).

Biohub will address the question “Can we cure, prevent or manage all diseases in our children’s lifetime?” by gathering multidisciplinary scientists and engineers and getting them to work collaboratively to build tools and develop new technologies toward solving the most challenging biomedical questions of our time.

IGI Executive Director Jennifer Doudna and UCSF Co-director Jonathan Weissman will serve on Biohub’s President’s Advisory Group.

- Donilon heads Joe Biden's Campaign for President.
- Mike also heads the Biden Institute at the University of Delaware.
- Donilon has played key roles in the Presidential campaigns of every Democratic nominee since President Bill Clinton.

Mike Donilon has built a reputation as one of the most talented strategists in the Democratic Party. Before joining AKPD, Donilon served as Senior Adviser to Vice President Joe Biden, whom he's advised since 1981. Donilon has played key roles in the presidential campaigns of every Democratic nominee since President Bill Clinton, and has helped elect more than 25 Democratic Senators and Governors. In 2012, Donilon was a member of President Obama's advertising team, writing and producing spots that stood out for their sharp messaging. Donilon has provided strategic advice and led the creative efforts in numerous statewide campaigns, including those for Senator Bill Nelson (D-FL), Senator Jack Reed (D-RI), Senator Sheldon Whitehouse (D-RI), Senator and Governor Mark Dayton (D-MN), and Senator and Governor Jon Corzine (D-NJ). In 2006 and 2008, Donilon created the advertising for the DSCC's independent expenditure campaigns for Senator Claire McCaskill (D-MO), Senator Robert Menendez (D-NJ), Senator Mark Udall (D-CO), and Senator Jeanne Shaheen (D-NH).

For over 30 years, Donilon has been at the center of some of the most remarkable campaigns in the nation — from Governor Doug Wilder's historic victory in Virginia to Senator Harris Wofford's stunning win over Dick Thornburgh to President Clinton's War Room to President Obama's "beat-the-odds" reelection in 2012.

Donilon has both an A.B. and a J.D. from Georgetown University.

Early life and education   [ edit ]

Donilon is a graduate of La Salle Academy in Providence, Rhode Island.<sup>[8]</sup> He earned a Bachelor of Arts and Juris Doctor from Georgetown University.

Mike Donilon (born c. 1959) is an American attorney and campaign consultant who serves as a Senior Advisor to U.S. President Joe Biden. He was the chief strategist of Joe Biden's 2020 presidential campaign.<sup>[4]</sup> Prior, Donilon was working as a partner at AKPD Message and Media. Between 2009 and 2013,<sup>[5]</sup> he served as Counselor to Vice President Biden in the Obama administration. Prior to his White House appointment, Donilon worked with the vice-presidential candidate to help him prepare for the debates and also as a traveling advisor.

Donilon has been an advisor and consultant to President Biden since 1981.<sup>[6]</sup> He has been described as Biden's "conscience, alter ego and shared brain" by the Washington Post.<sup>[7]</sup>

Career   [ edit ]

Mike Donilon has advised candidates and worked on their campaigns in numerous important races including Douglas Wilder's historic campaign and election as Governor of Virginia (1989), Harris Wofford's upset victory over Dick Thornburgh to become Senator for the state of Pennsylvania, and Bill Clinton's successful run for the White House in 1992.

Donilon has also worked on campaigns for Governor Jon Corzine (D-New Jersey), Senator Bill Nelson (D-Florida), Senator Jack Reed (D-Rhode Island), Senator Sheldon Whitehouse (D-Rhode Island), Senator Joe Lieberman (I-Connecticut), Representative Dick Gephardt (D-Missouri), Senator Chris Dodd (D-Connecticut), Senator John Edwards (D-North Carolina), Vice President Al Gore (D-Tennessee), Senator John Kerry (D-Massachusetts), and former Senator Mark Dayton (D-Minnesota).<sup>[9]</sup> In 2006 and 2008, Donilon claims he was "instrumental in the campaigns for Senator Claire McCaskill (D-Missouri), Senator Robert Menendez (D-New Jersey), Senator Mark Udall (D-Colorado), and Senator Jeanne Shaheen (D-New Hampshire), working to create the campaign ads for those races paid for by independent expenditure of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee."<sup>[attribution needed]</sup>

Donilon was a managing member of MCD Strategies, a media consulting firm, for which he received compensation of at least $4 million.<sup>[10]</sup>

Biden administration   [ edit ]

As his longtime advisor, Mike Donilon held significant influence over Joe Biden's successful 2020 campaign for president.<sup>[11]</sup> He helped develop Biden's campaign strategy that had a three-pronged message: "that the election was about the 'soul of the nation'; that the threatened middle class was the 'backbone of the nation'; and that what was most needed was to 'unify the nation.' Only Biden could restore the nation's soul, repair its backbone, and unify it."<sup>[11]</sup> "This is really about character and values as opposed to issues and ideology," said Mike Donilon, Biden's chief strategist, when speaking to the New York Times.<sup>[12]</sup>

In November 2020, Donilon was named Senior Advisor to the President <sup>[13][14]</sup>

Personal life   [ edit ]

Donilon's brothers are BlackRock Investment Institute chair Tom Donilon, who was chief of staff in former President Bill Clinton's State Department and is a former National security adviser to Barack Obama,<sup>[15][16][17]</sup> and Terry Donilon, Communications Director for Cardinal Seán Patrick O'Malley of the Archdiocese of Boston.<sup>[18]</sup> His sister-in-law is Catherine M. Russell.

Joe Biden's non-radical 1960s

Amid simmering protests, generational division and defining disputes about the course of American life, Joe Biden was a young man keen on bringing a bit of a 1950s sensibility into the 1960s

NEW YORK TIMES | OCTOBER 18, 2020 / 03:25 PM IST

The tilt of Biden's life changed for good with a last-minute flight to the Bahamas.

He had driven down to Fort Lauderdale, Florida, in the spring of 1964 for a couple of days with friends when boredom compelled them to consider a more daring beach destination. They booked a round trip to Nassau for about $25.

While there, Biden met Neilia Hunter poolside at an exclusive hotel he had sneaked into by wrapping a guest towel around his waist and walking past the guards with confidence.

"I've got the blonde," he told his friends, beelining to Hunter, an attractive sunbather from a well-to-do family near Syracuse.

She liked him back. And when they returned stateside, the fresh clarity in Biden's personal life seemed to sharpen his focus on other endeavors, coaxing him to fits of big-picture dreaming.

He would apply to law school at Syracuse to be near Hunter. He would make sure he was studying enough to get in.

"Once I had Neilia with me, it became more of a plan than a daydream," Biden wrote in his memoir. "Now I could see the picture whole."

The early goals in this timeline were accomplished apace: He got into Syracuse. He and Hunter were married in 1966.

But Biden was still liable to lose interest in academics quickly, prizing football tailgates or social engagements with Hunter and often copying class notes from a friend. Sometimes, Hunter prepared Biden's study sheets, inventing mnemonic devices for him to memorize.

In his most damaging bit of carelessness, Biden lifted chunks of a law review article without proper citation — a blemish that damaged his 1988 presidential campaign amid other accusations of plagiarism at the time. Biden has said he did nothing "malevolent" at Syracuse but simply did not understand citation standards because he had not been to class often enough.

"He found out it wasn't that easy," said Mike Gelacak, a friend who later worked as a Senate aide to Biden. "His wife explained to him that he had to knuckle down."

And if the country's volatility in those years seeped into campus life, classmates say that Biden never much grappled with it in their company.

And when Mr. Biden and his friends from Syracuse University law school happened upon antiwar protesters at the chancellor's office — the kind of Vietnam-era demonstration that galvanized so much of their generation — his group stepped past with disdain. They were going for pizza.

Joe Biden is pictured, circa 1968, in a photo that shared by his official account on Twitter in 2014. He was elected to represent Delaware in the Senate in 1973 and became the 47th vice president of the United States in 2009.

This all sounds like typical internet rumor-mongering, except the story was carried by The New York Times and U.S. News And World Report.

The smoking gun was a report by U.S. Customs agent Ramon Martinez. Customs was called in to investigate a possible link to child pornography or child trafficking, and the Martinez document is shocking. There were indeed photos of many children, some naked. This in itself is not surprising due to the commune-type upbringing of The Finders. There were also photos of members in white robes, with the children, in what appears to be ritual sacrifice of goats. The Finders claim it was merely typical harvesting of animals on a farm, but the children actively participated in the disembowelment.

At the time of the arrest, despite the "well dressed" appearance of the adult men, the children seemed to have no knowledge of such things as electricity and hot running water. In a strange twist, they seemed highly educated. Details of what was found in the warehouse and the customs report can be read in this report by Dave McGowan.

Other items seized from the finders included Telex messages about obtaining children from Hong Kong, international money transfers, and this, from the Martinez report:

"Further inspection of the premises disclosed numerous files relating to activities of the organization in different parts of the world. Locations I observed are as follows: London, Germany, the Bahamas, Japan, Hong Kong, Malaysia, Africa, Costa Rica, and 'Europe.' There was also a file identified as 'Palestinian.' Other files were identified by member name or 'project' name. The projects appearing to be operated for commercial purposes under front names for the Finders. There was one file entitled 'Pentagon Break-In,' and others referring to members operating in foreign countries".

NAPLES, Fla. — The Keewaydin Island vacation home of Joe Biden's brother, known as the "Biden Bungalow," sold quietly for $1.35 million in February to the owners of a Florida-based architecture and design firm.

Collier County property records show the buyer of the 4,000-square-foot home as a limited liability company titled, SC-Keewaydin, registered to John Cooney with Randall Stofft as an authorized agent.

The vacation home on stilts which includes a one-bedroom, one-bath guesthouse was purchased by James Biden Jr. and his wife Sara in 2013 for $2.5 million.

The Bidens spent more than $1 million to upgrade the home that was built in 1996.

Renovations included adding water cisterns, solar panels, new air conditioning units, and other cosmetic improvements.

In 2013, shortly after the Bidens purchased the home, Vice President Joe Biden, arrived to the island retreat to spend the Christmas holiday with the family.

UN concerned by the scale of child prostitution in Ukraine

The UN believes that child prostitution and human trafficking involving children are major problems in Ukraine. These were the conclusions reached by the UN Special Rapporteur on the Sale of Children, Child Prostitution and Child Pornography Juan Miguel Petit following his visit to Ukraine at the end of October 2006. He has submitted his report to the Human Rights Committee.

The report apparently says that 10% of the victims of human trafficking are aged between 13 and 18. Half involved in trans-border trafficking are sent to neighbouring countries, mainly Russia.

The Special Rapporteur stated that there are many trafficking victims who were previously not taken into consideration and they do not receive assistance either abroad, or when they return home. He mentioned that child prostitution had increased over recent years. According to figures from the Ukrainian Institute for Social Research, of women providing sexual services, 11% were aged between 12 and 15 and 20% from 16 to 17. He said that even 10-year-old girls have been drawn into prostitution.

Ukraine's Shame: An Epidemic of Human Trafficking

LUKE A. DRABYN

This article first appeared on the Atlantic Council site.

Ukraine remains one of Europe's most notorious sources of human trafficking.

Since 1991, more than 160,000 men, women and children have been exploited for labor, sex, forced begging and organ removal, according to a mid-2015 report from the International Organization for Migration (IOM).

Ukraine's Ministry of Social Policy, with recommendations from domestic and international nongovernmental organizations (NGOs), is currently in the final stages of updating the country's five-year action plan on combating human trafficking.

Ukraine/child Trafficking

“The economic crisis is now so deep we see so many people are willing to accept any offer, risky offers, just for the chance to work abroad,” says Hanna Antonova, the IOM’s counter-trafficking programme coordinator in Ukraine.

The country has long been a regional trafficking hub. The IOM estimates that more than 160,000 people have been trafficked from the country since independence in 1991.

Ukraine, the sex tourist mecca for European johns

Article

Kiev...is becoming notorious as a sex tourism mecca in Europe....However, the real issue lies on growing child prostitution and human trafficking...In fact, the rise of sex tourism led the growing industry of child prostitution and child pornography...human trafficking is another problem... Regardless of many harms done to prostituted Ukrainian women and children in Kiev, johns go unpunished aside from paying a nominal fine. One advocate mentions that the law enforcement is unlikely to enforce harsh penalties against prostitutes and johns because prostitution is controlled by organized criminals who have tight connection to political elites...whether what the advocate says is true or not, Ukraine, and perhaps the rest of the Europe, may already be going down the hill. According to one report by the U.S. National Institute of Health, with 60,000 prostitutes in the city, HIV epidemic in Ukraine is the highest among European countries.

Child prostitution in Ukraine

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Child prostitution in Ukraine has been described by Juan Miguel Petit, Special Rapporteur on the Sale of Children, Child Prostitution and Child Pornography for the United Nations, as a major problem in the country. A research publication "2016 Findings on the Worst Forms of Child Labor" prepared by Bureau of International Labor Affairs reports that the Ukrainian children engage in the worst forms of child labor including production of pornography and sex work. Orphaned, homeless, and street children are trafficked both domestically and transnationally.<sup>[1]</sup> In the past the majority of prostitutes were girls from urban districts. Now most victims of child prostitution in Ukraine come from small towns and rural regions,<sup>[2]</sup> and prostitution of Ukrainian boys has increased.

The Ukrainian legal system does not provide a clear definition for "prostitution" and "child prostitution".<sup>[3]</sup> It levies a harsh punishment for the involvement of children into commercial sex work, but their clients are often not prosecuted. As a result, the children become liable for their own exploitation.<sup>[4]</sup>

Available data and statistics  [ edit ]

An estimation of a total number of female sex workers in Ukraine is around 70,000, 15,000 of them are at the 14–19.<sup>[3]</sup> A study performed by the Ukrainian Institute for Social Research demonstrated that 11% of Ukrainian women who provide sexual services are aged between 12 and 15 years old, 20% of Ukrainian prostitutes are from 16 to 17 years old. In some registered cases the age of Ukrainian girls involved in prostitution was as low as 10 years old.<sup>[2][11]</sup>

are some statistical data indicating that the average age of "sexual debut" in Ukraine is declining. In general it has dropped to 15-16 years, but for many situations it might be as low as 10 years old. In 2009, 10% of girls admitted that they

The Finders Cult/CIA/Child Trafficking

WASHINGTON, 9 Feb. — Authorities investigating the alleged abuse of six children found with two men in a Florida park discovered materials in the Washington area that they say point to a 1980s-style commune called the Finders, described in a court document as a "cult" that allegedly conducted "satanic" rituals and used children.

Some photographs visible through a bag, as it was carried from the warehouse, were of children; some were wallet-sized, similar to school pictures, and some were of naked children.

Police sources said some of the items seized showed pictures of children engaged in what appeared to be "cult rituals". Officials of the US Customs Service, called in to aid in the investigation, said that the material includes photographs showing children involved in bloodletting ceremonies of animals and one photograph of a child in chains. Customs officials said they were looking into whether a child pornography operation was being conducted.

Authorities into a far-reaching investigation that includes the Finders — a group of about 40 people that court documents allege is led by a man named Marion Pettie — and their various homes, duplexes and houses.

The source said the children's grandparents feared for their safety.

A police spokesman described the children as "hungry and . . . pretty pathetic".

The children, identified in a court doc-

Here's a look at developments

A CHRONOLOGY:

Wednesday, Feb. 4:

Someone calls the Tallahassee Police Department to report two suspicious-looking, well-dressed, bug-bitten children.

Florida when they were apprehended. Terrell says permission slips from the mothers are in the glove compartment of the van. Terrell says the children are "healthy."

Monday, Feb. 9:

Washington and Tallahassee authorities describe the Finders as a cult and an organization. Says Hunt: "Organization" has mysterious connotations.

Once the media heard the term "satanic," Terrell continues to say the Finders have found no evidence to support allegations that they were dangerous, or that members broke any law.

Meanwhile, a tipster tells Virginia State Police that human remains buried on an Etlan, Va., farm Pettie, said to be the leader of the Finders.

Tuesday, Feb. 10:

Virginia police use a backhoe to dig a trench 6 feet wide and 6 feet deep on Pettie's farm. They probably pretty well over, concludes state police Charles Vaughan. "We don't have anything to report," D.C. police and FBI officials say they know of no Finders in their jurisdictions but are continuing to investigate.

HRS brings in child-abuse expert Dr. Nahman to interview the six children. At a news conference, HRS says there is evidence consistent with sexual-abuse allegations, and refuse to make any further comment on the evidence. City police say two women call them claiming to be mothers of some of the children. Tallahassee police issue a plea to Terrell to help in the identification of the children.

Wednesday, Feb. 11:

Terrell and an unidentified Finders member say the mothers of the six children will come to Tallahassee soon. Leon County Judge George Reynolds enters a not-guilty plea for Ammerman and Holwell during their arraignment. Both men are given court-appointed public defenders, even though they insist on waiting for their attorneys. Steve Usdin, who Terrell says is a member of their community, Tallahassee Police Department issues a statement saying it will have no further comment on the Finders matter, "until there are further developments in the case."

Friday, Feb. 13:

The FBI says in a federal search warrant that letters of custody were found in the glove compartment of a van seized when Holwell and Ammerman were arrested. However, Holwell and Ammerman learn that they still face a state investigation, even though they had letters authorizing their custody of the children. Terrell had said almost a week earlier that the letters were in the van. Tallahassee police would not comment on the FBI search.

Saturday, Feb. 14:

Five women who say they are the mothers of the detained children come to Tallahassee. Three of the women tell the Democrat they're here to regain custody of the youngsters.

The only media report to directly quote significant portions of the Customs documents has been duly scrubbed from the internet, though it is documented in the FBI Vault collection: the piece was penned by Pulitzer Prize-nominated journalist Paul M. Rodriguez for The Washington Times in 1993. Rodriguez would also break the D.C. "call-boy scandal" in June 1989. The article states:

A Metropolitan Police document dated Feb. 19, 1987, quotes a CIA agent as confirming that his agency was sending its personnel to "a Finders Corp., Future Enterprises, for training in computer operations." And a later Customs Service report says that the CIA "admitted to owning the Finders organization as a front for a domestic computer training operation but that it had 'gone bad.'" A senior Customs Service official confirmed the content of the memos and said the agency "only had a small role in the case."

🔊 EPISODE #18:

THE CIA AND THE FINDERS

WITH ELIZABETH VOS

The CIA and The Finders with Elizabeth Vos

In this episode, Whitney is joined by independent journalist Elizabeth Vos, who has recently written a series on the Finders, a cult that ritually and sexually abused children, for MintPress News. Discussed in the depth is the evidence of the CIA's ties to the Finders and the government cover up that followed the arrests of its leaders.

On February 19, 1987, Detective [Redacted] contacted [Redacted] ... concerning a listing of her name and additional information contained in the "Finders" records. [Redacted] seemed very upset that they [sic] police were contacting her and Detective [Redacted] assured her that our only interest was that her name and information about her children were in the files. [Redacted] stated that she needed a babysitter and contacted Georgetown University for a referral. [Redacted] stated that she was given the name of [Redacted] and interviewed her telephonically. [Redacted] stated that she would have hired [Redacted] but she never showed up for a interview [sic]... [Redacted] asked what would have happened if the "Finders" got into her residence and Detective [Redacted] told her that he was unsure of any motives and that anything would be speculative.

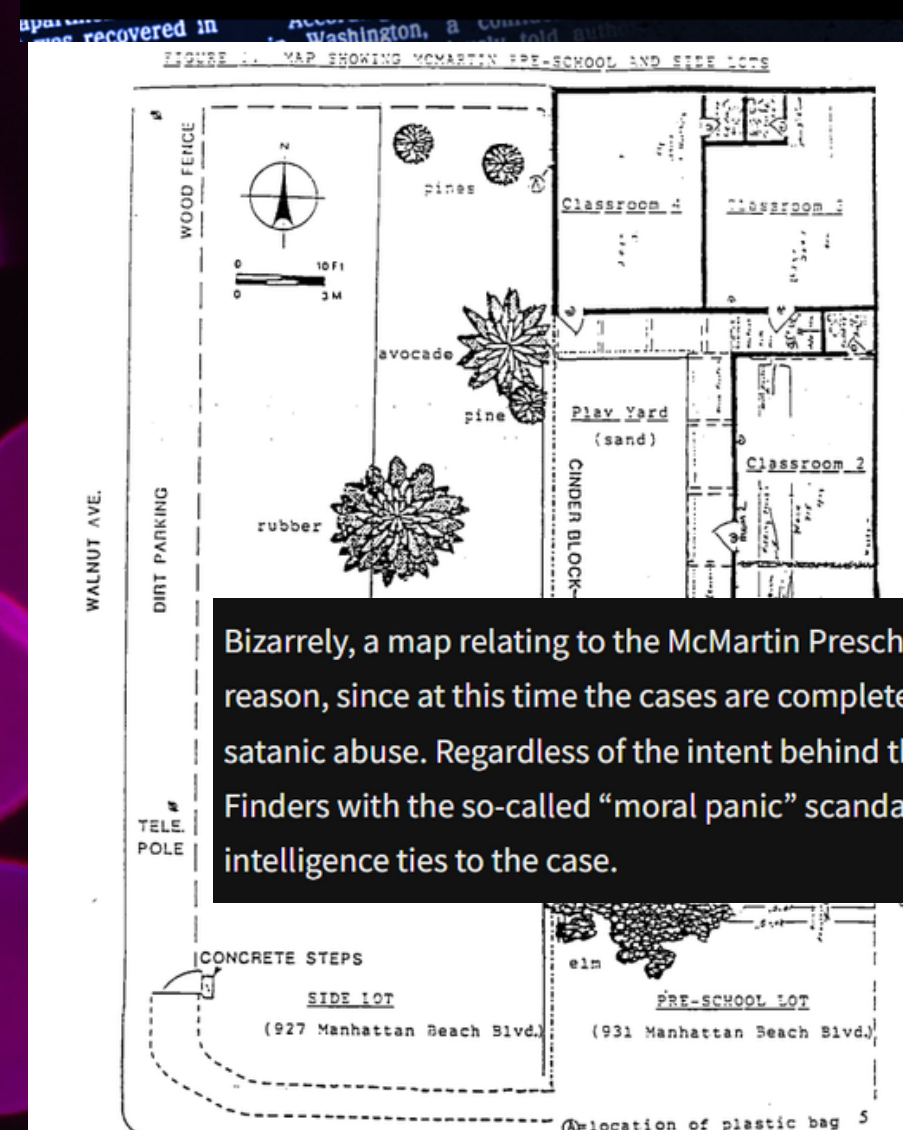

Houlihan and Ammerman first told police that they were transporting the children to a school for brilliant children in Mexico. However, this explanation as to the purpose of the children's trip would change significantly, with Finders members later stating that the group were on an adventure in Florida. The Finders group was found to have multiple properties in Washington, D.C. and a farm in rural Madison County, Virginia. It also became clear that the Finders were highly skilled with early computer technology, which would become a major aspect of the case as it unfolded.

RESEARCH CONCLUSIONS:

1. THE FINDERS CULT WAS DEEPLY CONNECTED, COVERED UP, AND LIKELY STILL CONTINUES.
2. THERE WAS HEAVY EMPHASIS ON FUTURISM, SATANISM AND PROGRESSIVE TECHNOLOGY.
3. CIA/FBI WENT TO GREAT LENGTHS TO KEEP THIS QUIET, TO SABOTAGE THE CASE, AND AFTER DOING SO THEY COVERED UP AND RESTRICTED INFO ON IT WHILE LABELING IT A HOAX.
4. THIS WAS RAN BY INTELLIGENCE-INCLINED, & VERY POWERFUL PEOPLE

UNCOVERING A COVER UP

THE FINDERS: CIA TIES TO CHILD SEX CULT OBSCURED AS COVERAGE GOES FROM SENSATIONALISM TO SILENCE

Bizarrely, a map relating to the McMartin Preschool scandal is also included in the publication for no known reason, since at this time the cases are completely unrelated aside from both having contained allegations of satanic abuse. Regardless of the intent behind the document's inclusion, it serves to further associate the Finders with the so-called "moral panic" scandals of the era, which I would argue distracts from the issue of intelligence ties to the case.

MANY LOCATIONS WERE DEFINITELY LISTED AS AREAS THE FINDERS HAD OPERATED.
DC, PA, NY, NJ, VA, NC, SC, GA, FL, BAHAMAS, EUROPE, HONG KONG

THERE WAS AFFILIATION BETWEEN THE FINDERS AND GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY.

THE FACT THAT THOSE INVOLVED GOT AWAY BACK IN '87 & '93 LIKELY HAS MADE THESE PERPS SMARTER, SLYER, MORE CONFIDENT, AND THEREFORE SICKER.

Georgetown Alumni and Scandals/ Finders Cult

Once, Mr. Spence's influence with the Washington power elite appeared almost limitless, demonstrated by his ability to arrange midnight tours of the White House. The Times has confirmed that Mr. Spence arranged at least four midnight tours of the White House, including one June 29, 1988, on which he took with him a 15-year-old boy whom he falsely identified as his son.

One man Mr. Spence apparently cultivated was a uniformed Secret Service officer assigned to the midnight shift at the White House. The officer, Reginald A. deGueldre, was interrogated for more than 10 hours last week about his association with Mr. Spence. Five Secret Service agents, armed with search warrants, searched his house for nearly two hours Friday night, although they wouldn't say what they were looking for. The agents seized several photographs from Mr. deGueldre's home.

Mr. deGueldre said he has been told he will be called to testify before a federal grand jury. According to one law enforcement official, Mr. deGueldre failed the portion of a polygraph test involving favors he may have done for Mr. Spence.

Lobbyist Is Arrested in New York

Craig J. Spence, a Washington lobbyist who is a subject of a Federal investigation of male prostitution in Washington, is facing cocaine and gun possession charges in New York, the Manhattan District Attorney's office said yesterday.

Mr. Spence, 48 years old, was arrested July 31 at the Barbizon Hotel at 140 East 63d Street in Manhattan. Gerald McKelvey, a spokesman for District Attorney Robert M. Morgenthau, said Mr. Spence had called the police to say a man in his room had just robbed him of $8,000 at gunpoint.

When the police arrived, Mr. McKelvey said, they found Mr. Spence and another man, Casey Regan, 22, in the room arguing. Mr. Spence told the police that Mr. Regan had stolen a gun from him and then used it to rob him. The police also found a small amount of cocaine in an envelope, Mr. McKelvey said.

Mr. Spence was charged with criminal possession of a loaded .32-caliber

IS IT CONNECTED? WILL THESE GIRLS EVER BE FOUND?

The Strings of Abducted women from the mid- 1970's - the early 90's especially in "finders" known states like, DC, VA, PA, DE, NC, and FL are alarmingly high. The timing of these abductions and the similarities in their appearances make me think some of these could be finders victims or from a different well orchestrated trafficking ring centralized here on the East Coast.
